

The background of the cover is a macro photograph of organic matter, possibly a piece of wood or bark, showing intricate textures, fibers, and small biological structures. The lighting is warm and golden, creating a rich, textured appearance. The text is overlaid on this background.

ABSTRACT ORGANIC MACRO ART

Abstract Organic Macro Art (AOMA) was developed by photographer and author Andreas Peters from Hamburg, Germany. After many years in the IT business he now devotes himself exclusively to his art. "I'm painting with my camera" is what Andreas says about his work.

Through the blend of organic materials and light, highly colorful and detailed worlds emerge on a macro level. No digital effects or artificial intelligence are applied to the finished photos. The intense, powerful and very lively appearance of the images invites the viewer to travel, discover and dream.
