

The background of the entire page is a vibrant, abstract macro photograph. It features a complex arrangement of organic forms, including large, textured green leaves, clusters of bright red coral or seaweed, and various small, translucent marine organisms like jellyfish and fish. The lighting is soft, creating a sense of depth and highlighting the intricate details of the underwater scene.

What keeps you coming back to the camera?

"It's just who I am. I've been creative for as long as I can remember, across many different mediums. Beyond photography, my journey has included painting, drawing, writing books, coding games, and publishing magazines. To create something entirely new, be it in its aesthetic or its message, is an incredibly fulfilling process. It's a way for me to be truly at one with myself, and perhaps bring a little joy to others along the way.

What emotion do you want to evoke in the viewer?

"Well, I do create detailed worlds made of shapes and light, but I believe everyone should explore and experience them for themselves. Naturally, it's a beautiful thing to trigger emotions and move people to stop, wonder, and just stay a while. But whatever someone feels, whatever it stirs up in them, is right and beyond question. Their experience might be completely different from my own vision, and that's absolutely fine. Abstract stays abstract.

Do you have a personal connection to Uruguay ?

"I discovered this beautiful country while researching my latest book in 2023. Since then, I have felt a strong bond with the region and especially its people and returning is always a pure joy.

Excerpts from an Interview with Andreas in Vienna, Austria (2026)

My abstract art is for adventurers, dreamers.

For people who like to discover and think there is more to life than just what we see.

A/P ANDREAS PETERS ART

Artist Andreas Peters from Hamburg, Germany developed Abstract Organic Macro Art. “I’m painting with my camera” is what photographer Andreas says about his work.

Through the blend of organic materials and light, highly colorful and detailed worlds emerge on a macro level. No digital effects or artificial intelligence are applied to the finished photos. The intense, powerful and very lively appearance of the images invites the viewer to travel and discover.

The Edition Punta Del Este 2027 is a special selection by the artist.
